VERTO is a community owned, not-for-profit organisation, delivering a range of employment and vocational training services to assist individuals, employers and industries in communities across New South Wales (NSW). We are an Apprenticeship Network Provider, jobactive provider and offer training services through our Registered Training Organisation. We also offer community support services (including Aboriginal and disability services) and specialised training to link the most disadvantaged people in our community with sustainable employment opportunities.

VERTO started as an evening college in Bathurst in the early 1980s, and has now grown to provide services from 27 locations across NSW. On average, we train 3,000 people each year in both accredited and non-accredited vocational training from a range of over 50 qualifications. We also sign up over 4,300 apprentices and trainees annually and assist over 2,000 disadvantaged job seekers into work. In 2015, was named theNSW Large Training Provider of the Year.
